

Bishop's House

2019 TARIFF INFORMATION

There are three different types of bookings at Bishop's House: exclusive use, individual and group bookings. We also offer a self-catering option for the whole house throughout the winter.

Individual and group bookings are welcome during our Open Weeks. A discount of up to 10% may be negotiated for groups of 10 or more paying guests sharing rooms.

Exclusive use grants the use of the entire house regardless of their number; no other guests will be able to book into the house at that time. If there are other guests booked at the particular time requested, a group may still opt to visit during that period on the understanding that they will not have exclusive use of the house and will therefore pay the normal rates. We ask all groups taking exclusive use of the house to provide a Chaplain. The role is simply to take two services a day and be available to other guests if they wish to talk. The Chaplain needs to be ordained in a Christian church and be willing take services in the Episcopal tradition, using the 1982 Scottish Liturgy. If your group does not contain a member of clergy who wishes to undertake this role, we can arrange for a Chaplain to cover the week. We will, however, have to house them in one of the bedrooms in Bishop's House, reducing the capacity available for your group.

For further information about our self-catering option, please contact the Warden.

Comprehensive holiday insurance is strongly recommended for all bookings.
